FACULTE SAINT-JEAN: THE UNIVERSITY'S NEWEST FACULTY

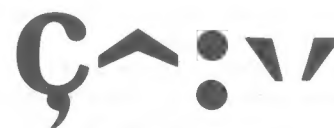

Faculté Saint-Jean, formerly Collège Universitaire Saint-Jean, is the University of Alberta's newest faculty. Prompted by a report from the Academic Development Committee, General Faculties Council on 6 March 1978, approved the name change to Faculté Saint-Jean. The University's Board of Governors on 5 May 1978 approved the name change providing official recognition of the University's newest Faculty.

Faculté Saint-Jean is unique in that courses are instructed almost totally in the French language. The Faculté differs from other Faculties at the University in its lack of academic specialization. There is no one academic discipline studied at the Faculté. Instead, courses leading to the degrees of Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Sciences, and Bachelor of Education are offered. The Faculté does not have a graduate student program.

classical college and was re-named Collège Saint-Jean.

Since 1943, the Faculté has seen a gradual evolution of its functions. The secondary-school aspect of its operations was transferred to the Edmonton Separate School Board in 1972 and the post-secondary aspect was integrated with the University of Alberta in 1970. The Collège was renamed Collège Universitaire Saint-Jean in keeping with this integration—no longer to be considered an affiliated college. Then in 1976, increased costs of administration and lack of public funds led to the sale of the Collège to the provincial government and the subsequent transfer of title to the University of Alberta. Through mutual agreement between the

Although Faculté Saint-Jean is the University's newest faculty, it is by no means a recent creation. Founded in 1908 by Father Henry Grandin, Vicar of the Missions of Alberta-Saskatchewan, the Faculté had its beginning in Pincher Creek as a Juniorate of the Oblate Order, a seminary where future priests came to receive instruction. Because growth in this remote area seemed impossible, the Juniorate was re-established in Edmonton in 1910. In a house situated very close to the rectory of Saint-Joachim's, three Oblate instructors and eleven students carried on classes. But again, this location was only temporary. The next year was a memorable one for the Juniorate for it was moved to its present location on Strathcona Hill. Here the Faculté continued as a Juniorate until 1943. In 1941, the Jesuite Collège, a minor seminary that had previously offered French-language instruction, was closed. Prompted by this, the Oblate Fathers opened their doors in 1943 to western students so that they might receive secondary and post-secondary instruction in French. The Faculté was modeled after a Quebec style

Oblate Fathers and the University, the University assumed the non-academic functions of the Collège. With the slow evolution of the Collège from a religious to a fully integrated institution for higher learning and the assurance of public funds for the continuance of French Canadian culture and education, the Oblate Fathers decided to serve other areas that were in greater need.

With the transfer of title to the University, the Collège was temporarily left without any formalized administrative structure. At a GFC meeting in June 1977, recommendations from the Academic Development Committee concerning the academic structures and operations of the Collège were approved. One of the recommendations encouraged the Collège to consider a report, written in October 1975 by A.G. McCalla, former Dean of the Faculty of Graduate Studies and Research.

In his study, Dr. McCalla made a number of recommendations on various aspects of the Collège, one of which was that the Collège be re-named the Faculté Saint-Jean. Another was to grant the Collège full faculty status with all the rights and responsibilities that faculty status implies.

On 9 September 1977, the Board of Governors approved the recommendation that the Faculté receive faculty status. It was not until 5 May 1978, however, that the Board of Governors approved the name change to Faculté Saint-Jean.

The name change also represents a significant mark in the historical evolution of the institution—from a minor seminary to a bilingual and bicultural centre for higher learning. Today Faculté Saint-Jean has an enrolment of approximately 190 students.

About twenty-five percent of these students live in the residence at the Faculté. Last year seventeen of the Faculté's eighteen BEd graduates were placed in French language teaching positions throughout Alberta. The Dean of the Faculté, Frank McMahon, says that there is a real demand for bilingual teachers in the school systems. He also says that it is important to get across to young people the opportunities that a bilingual education affords them, especially to those considering careers in the federal public service.

The Faculté is looking forward to its first honorary degrees ceremony to be held Saturday, 2 December. Related to the ceremony will be a week of cultural conferences at the Faculté. For further information contact Col Sissons, Director, Information Service, at the Faculté Saint-Jean, telephone 466-2196 (extension 33).

AGRICULTURE AND FORESTRY BUILDING BEGUN

Construction of the Agriculture and Forestry Building, approved in April by the Board of Governors at an estimated cost of more than twenty million dollars, has begun.

The site of the new building is northwest of the Students' Union Building, a location previously shared by outdoor tennis courts and a parking lot. The duration of construction is expected to be about two years.

The project coordinator for the Campus Development Office, Baxter Dick, explained that disruptions for the users and occupants of nearby buildings would be kept to a minimum. Access will be maintained to the rear entrances of Pembina Hall, Athabasca Hall, and the Students' Union Building. The south entrance to the Structural Laboratory will be blocked some of the time, but a new north door will be added to that building, to facilitate handling longer loads.

Those who experienced the building boom of the late 1960s and early 1970s and the great walls of plywood hoardings used then will notice that the hoardings for the Agriculture and Forestry Building will be chain-link. Chain-link hoardings will permit passers-by to watch the progress of the new building and at the same time allow for better security around the building site.

The only disturbances likely to affect people in the University are occasional vibrations during foundation placement for the building, and some muddy sidewalks and streets as a result of trucking materials to and from the site. There is a general requirement in the contract that the builder keep the streets adjacent to the site reasonably clean.

Another, smaller building is being erected between the Windsor Car Park and the Industrial and Vocational Education Building in the northwest area of the campus. The 2,400 square foot prefabricated temporary building will house the provincial government's Coal Mining Research Group, which is associated with the Faculty of Engineering. The building, which will match the Industrial and Vocational Education Building in color and materials, is expected to be finished by January. The Research Group likely will be housed there for three to six years.

CONVOCATION HALL RE-OPENING

Harry E. Gunning, University President, and Brian Harris, Acting Chairman of the Department of Music, will declare Convocation Hall, Officially re-opened on Sunday, 1 October.

The re-opening ceremony, which begins at 8 p.m., will precede the inaugural recital on the new Memorial Organ. Gerhard Krapf, Professor of Organ and Church Music, will perform the following compositions: Toccata and Fugue in D Minor (BWV 565) by Bach; Three Chorale Preludes by Violet Archer (the premiere performance); Fantasy on "Hallelujah! Gott zu loben, bleibe mein Seelenfreund," by Max Reger; Two 16th Century Dances; Fantasy on "O Jesus Christ, To Thee May Hymns Be Rising," a composition of Professor Krapf's; and Prelude and Fugue in E Flat Major by Bach.

There will be an intermission following the performance of the Reger work.

Everyone is welcome to attend the re-opening and recital and, while admission is free, tickets should be obtained in advance at the Music Department Office, 3-82 Fine Arts Centre.

Convocation Hall was closed for renovations from January of 1977 to February of 1978. The renovation work resulted in optimum conditions for the $185,000 tracker-action organ which was installed during the summer.

12. Adjournment

The University of Alberta Senate in 1908. At the first University Senate meeting, in March 1908, the topics on the agenda were rather fundamental: what kinds of courses would the new University offer, who would teach them, where would they be taught, and to students with what kind of educational background. The first Senate meeting of the fall term will be tomorrow, Friday, 29 September and the main topic for discussion will be student finance.

POLICY ON CONTRACTS AND COMMITMENTS

The following information has been received from David Norwood, Assistant to the Vice-President (Finance and Administration).

Preamble

Recently the University has begun to coordinate administrative matters relating to certain types of contracts and commitments involving the University and outside parties, in an effort to resolve the following internal problems:

1. Insurance coverage in relation to liability or other risk exposure is often overlooked.
2. Funds in respect of such contracts and commitments are not sent to the appropriate University officer, creating difficulties in determining the related contracts or commitments with which they are associated.
3. Legal considerations are often overlooked.
4. Space considerations are sometimes overlooked.
5. Contracts and commitments are not always executed by the appropriate University authorities.

6. There is no central registry of contracts and commitments between the University and outside parties, which creates difficulties in quickly establishing the nature, status, and extent of these relationships.

Objective

1. The objective is to coordinate the administrative requirements of the contracts and commitments between the University of Alberta and individuals, groups, agencies, or institutions outside the University. These contracts and commitments normally involve funding, liability, or other obligations on the part of the University toward outside parties including companies, private organizations, governments and their agencies, and so on.
2. Only the following contracts and commitments are excluded in this policy:
 - (a) those now administered by the Research Grants and Contracts Office;
 - (b) those now administered by the Office of Community Relations;
 - (c) those now administered by the Office of Student Awards;
 - (d) those involving the acquisition, rather than the provision, of goods and services outside the University; and

(e) those standard form contracts used by service, support, or ancillary departments which have been approved by the responsible Vice-President.

3. General examples of contracts and commitments to be coordinated under this policy include:

- (a) conditional and special operating, capital, or other grants from governments and their agencies, from private organizations, and from other sources; and
- (b) affiliation agreements involving other educational institutions and organizations, hospitals, and other groups and organizations.

4. Specific examples of contracts and commitments include those involving the Provincial Laboratories; the conditional grants for the Mineral Engineering Program; Innovative Projects; temporary employment programs; negotiated development grants and other grants from such agencies as the Canada Council, CIDA, CUSO, and LIP; TRIUMF; hospital affiliation agreements; and the supply of utilities to the greater campus area.

Administrative Requirements

1. Faculties and departments are requested to negotiate contracts and commitments of the nature described above in consultation with the Office of the Vice-President (Finance and Administration). This Office will coordinate consideration of:

- (a) academic implications;
- (b) staffing, space, indemnity, and liability arrangements;
- (c) funding in relation to the estimated capital costs and the direct and indirect operating costs;
- (d) budgetary implications upon expiry of the contracts or commitments;
- (e) legal implications including any limitations or requirements under the Universities Act; and
- (f) any required committee or other approval within the University.

2. Contractual documents should indicate that:

- (a) any notices to the University are to be sent to the Vice-President (Finance and Administration); and
- (b) any payments to the University are to be sent to the Comptroller.

3. Execution of the final contractual or other documents by the appropriate University signatories will be arranged by the Office of the Vice-President (Finance and Administration). That Office will distribute copies of the executed documents to the involved faculty or department, the appropriate Vice-President(s), the Comptroller's Office, and elsewhere as required. One copy of the executed documents will be retained in the Office of the Vice-President (Finance and Administration), which will remain the central registry of the described contracts and commitments.

4. Please note that under this arrangement negotiations with outside parties will continue to be the responsibility of the involved faculties and departments. Consultation with the Office of the Vice-President (Finance and Administration) does not preclude direct discussion of proposed contracts or commitments with the President or other Vice-Presidents.

For additional information please contact David Norwood, Assistant to the Vice-President (Finance and Administration), at 432-4730 or 3-24 University Hall.

PEOPLE

■ Pierre A.R. Monod, Romance Languages, participated in the Fifth International Congress of Applied Linguistics held in Montreal between 20 and 26 August. He chaired the sessions held on Friday, 25 August, under the title "Second Language and Society." Madeleine J. Monod, Secondary Education, participated in the same congress as Discussion Leader on 21 August for a workshop on Evaluation.

■ Stanley Greenhill, Community Medicine, was in New Delhi this summer as consultant to the Division of Health Manpower Development of the World Health Organization (WHO). WHO is working to change the curricula of medical schools in Southeast Asia to ensure that their educational objectives are relevant to the health needs of the people of the region. Dr. Greenhill was responsible for planning and organizing the first of a series of working seminars designed to facilitate implementation of this WHO policy, under the general title, "Medical Education and Primary Care." Delegates from eight countries in the region attended representing senior members from the administration and basic science departments of the medical schools in Southeast Asia.

■ Malcolm (Col) Sissons has been appointed in charge of information services at the Faculté Saint-Jean. Mr. Sissons completed a Bachelor of Arts degree at the Faculté Saint-Jean in 1975 and received the Professional Diploma from the Faculty of Education the following year. He taught French and Language Arts in Edmonton during 1976-77 after which he accepted a Rotary International fellowship and completed the first year of a Master's program in the sciences and techniques of communication at the Université de Langues et Lettres de Grenoble, France. Mr. Sissons will be visiting communities throughout the province to further the goal of making the Faculté Saint-Jean better known to Albertans.

NOTICES

Notices must reach the Editor by 9 a.m. the Thursday prior to publication. Written notification is necessary. Notices should be sent to Folio Notices, 423 Athabasca Hall.

Library borrowing privileges for University Staff

Library borrowing privileges may be acquired upon application and the presentation of evidence of staff status to the Circulation Services Office, second floor, Cameron Library.

Office of Student Affairs Creative Job Search Workshop

The Office of Student Affairs in collaboration with the Canada Employment Centre on campus is holding a Creative Job Search Workshop on Wednesday, 11 October; Monday,

The United Appeal Campaign has begun on campus. This week, pledge cards will be sent to all University staff enabling them to donate to the United Appeal by way of a monthly deduction from their cheques. Films will be shown to staff to describe the work of the United Way and the use to which their donations will be put; these films will be presented in the Council Chamber in University Hall every half hour from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Monday, 2 October, Tuesday, 4 October, and Friday, 6 October.

16 October; and Wednesday, 18 October. The sessions will begin each day at 11 a.m. and 4 p.m.

According to the Office of Student Affairs, attendance at this workshop will aid a graduate "get an edge on finding a job."

For further information and registration, contact Canada Employment, 4th floor, Students' Union Building or telephone 432-4291. All the sessions, which will be directed mainly toward Arts and Sciences students, will be held in 14-6 Henry Marshall Tory Building.

International Students' Rotary Tour

The South Edmonton Rotary Club extends an invitation to all international students and their families to take part in its free tours of rural Alberta. This year's tours are scheduled to begin at 9:30 a.m. on Saturday, 30 September. Lunch will be provided.

Please contact the Office of Student Affairs (International Student Office), 225 Athabasca Hall, telephone 432-4145 as soon as possible.

SERVICES FOR STUDENTS

The University, as everyone here knows, is a large and complicated institution, and sometimes, without meaning to be so, it is impersonal, unwieldy, and frustrating. The University realizes that, and so it tries to organize as many services as are needed to try to offset the negative effects of its size and complexity on its students especially. Some of the services are operated by the University itself, some by the Students' Union, with a subsidy from the Board of Governors, and some by outside agencies, such as Canada Employment.

The following services are offered to students and frequently to other members of the University community as well. We present this list not only to indicate the variety of services available, but to assist staff in directing students with difficulties to the service that can be of the most help.

Dean of Students

(234 Athabasca Hall—telephone 432-2968)

The Dean of Students is the senior University staff member in charge of student affairs. As such, he is the one to whom students can go if they know of no one else who can help with their problem. The Student Affairs Office, the Student Awards Office, the Assistant Deans in Residence, and Student Counselling Services all are directly responsible to the Dean of Students.

Student Affairs Office

(225 Athabasca Hall—telephone 432-4145)

This office advises and refers students with any kind of problem, and provides assistance for students involved in academic appeals.

The people in the Student Affairs Office are also able to give special help and information to international students, mature students, and disabled students. The Office distributes information on legal matters and academic matters of interest to students, houses the Study and Travel Abroad Reference Room, and authorizes liquor permits for student functions. Students experiencing serious financial emergencies can be referred to the Student Affairs Office for help.

Student Awards Office

(252 Athabasca Hall—telephone 432-3221)

The Student Awards Office maintains a listing of awards of all kinds and information about other financial assistance to students. The Office is also able to give advice on financial planning for students and has an information centre on graduate scholarship competitions for study in Canada and abroad.

Student Counselling Services

(102 Athabasca Hall—telephone 432-5205)

Student Counselling Services offers help in developing career goals, overcoming difficulties in learning and studying, dealing with personal problems, selecting an appropriate field of study, increasing social and personal effectiveness, exploring fields of work, career opportunities, and educational programs. Student Counselling Services also maintains an Occupational Information Library and offers group programs throughout fall and winter terms in such topics as public speaking, reducing tension before exams, career development and choice, personal growth, women's problems, problems of older adult students, and study skills.

Student Counselling Services does not offer medical care (which is provided by the University Health Service) and while its counsellors discuss program changes with students, the changes themselves have to be approved by the appropriate dean's office.

University Health Service

(Health Service Building—telephone 432-2655)

The University Health Service Building is immediately south of the Basic Medical Sciences Building, just off 87 Avenue.

The University Health Service provides comprehensive medical and health care for all students registered at the University and for staff as well. Some of the services it provides are general and specialist medical care, including psychiatric consultation; a limited range of prescription drugs, for a small fee; preventive dental services; birth control information and consultation; treatment of dental injuries resulting from authorized sports activities; physiotherapy and other special treatments, when referred by a Health Service Physician; ambulance charges; maternity care; weight control and nutrition counselling; and health education on subjects such as dental care, family life education, birth control, venereal disease, smoking, alcohol, drugs, and other physical and mental health matters. Appointments are not necessary to see a general practitioner, but they are necessary to see specialists.

Adviser on Native Affairs

(124 Athabasca Hall—telephone 432-5677)

The Office of the Adviser on Native Affairs serves, among other things, as a drop-in centre for Native students at the University. It offers help with academic, social, personal, and financial problems and acts as a resource centre with information related to Native students.

Assistant Deans in Residence

(Kelsey Hall, Pat Murphy—439-8294; Hendy Hall, Jack Redekop—439-8298; Mackenzie Hall, Morris Maduro—439-8077) Assistant Deans in Residence, one for each of the residence towers in the Lister Complex, are there to help students in residence who have problems.

Student HELP

(250 Students' Union Building—telephone 432-4266)

Student HELP is a volunteer organization sponsored by the Students' Union and staffed by concerned students, who are prepared to deal with all kinds of problems. This is both a phone-in and drop-in service from 8 a.m. to 11 p.m. weekdays and from 5 p.m. to 11 p.m. weekends.

Chaplains

(Lutheran: Steve Larson, 158C Students' Union Building—432-4513; University Parish—Anglican, Presbyterian, United: Fletcher Stewart, 158D Students' Union Building, telephone 432-4620, and George Mossman, 158E Students' Union Building, telephone 432-4621; Christian Reformed: Tom Oosterhuis, 158F Students' Union Building, telephone 432-5327; Baptist: Wayne Stretch, 158F Students' Union Building, telephone 432-5327; Catholic: Fr. John Van Damme SCJ, 144 St. Joseph's College, telephone 433-2275, and Sr. Nancy Brown SCH, 141 St. Joseph's College, telephone 433-2275)

The Chaplains on campus represent several Christian denominations and are available for the whole University community to provide counselling, religious fellowship, discussion, worship, theological and biblical study groups, retreats, prayer groups, social involvement, and marriage preparation.

Canada Employment Centre

(Fourth Floor, Students' Union Building—telephone 432-4291)

Canada Employment does more than assist graduates to find jobs. It helps students find part-time employment during term and summer employment during academic sessions, administers federal and foreign service examinations, and provides a Creative Job Search Program for graduating students.

Student Legal Services

(246 Students' Union Building—telephone 432-4543 or 432-1285 between 5 and 7 p.m. Mondays through Thursdays)

This organization is operated by students in the Faculty of Law, to offer free legal advice to individuals who could not otherwise afford a lawyer. Student Legal Services also are able to refer people to practicing lawyers. The students' legal advice and work is checked by professors in the Faculty of Law; the most common types of cases handled have involved impairment, illegal possession, landlord and tenant disputes, and commercial contracts.

Campus Security

(Security Building, 89 Avenue—telephone 432-5252)

The Campus Security office maintains a twenty-four hour emergency service, as well as providing information to visitors on campus, assistance with traffic control, building security, and emergency first aid and ambulance service. Campus Security also provides an emergency escort service and is the location of the campus lost and found service.

Examination Registry

(240 Students' Union Building—432-2607)

The Students' Union maintains a registry of old examinations for most courses in most faculties. Copies of these examinations will be made on request and provided at cost. Other University departments can also act as services for students. At any of the University's libraries, librarians are prepared to help students find and use materials, and are able to deal with problems such as unwarranted fines. The Comptroller's Office, which receives tuition fees, can help with problems in that area. The Registrar's Office, which processes all applications for admission, registrations, and examination results, can provide help with these areas; moreover, its APEL (Admissions Policy, Evaluation, and Liaison) Division serves as an information centre about University programs.

Information about other services can be obtained through the Students' Union Building Information Desk or the Office of Student Affairs.

Faculty Forums

The following notice has been received from Steve Larson, Chairman, University of Alberta Chaplains' Association.

Faculty Forums have a discontinuous history at the University of Alberta. Begun by a group of Christian faculty members, they lapsed for a time because of sabbatical leaves and were resurrected two years ago in a new format by a committee consisting of several faculty members and chaplains. Meetings have generally taken place over coffee in the late afternoon, focusing on presentations by faculty members. A high point of last year's program was a dinner with spouses featuring Peter Craigie of the Department of Religious Studies at the University of Calgary. The purpose of the forums is to encourage a dialogue between religious faith and academic discipline. They are open to anyone who is interested in attending.

The fall schedule will include presentations by Bernard Harnik, a psychologist working in Zurich with Paul Tournier, on 5 October, and by Gordon Lathrop of Dubuque, Iowa. In the spring term, it is hoped that there will be at least three further presentations by members of this University's faculty.

For further information, please telephone Steve Larson at the Chaplains' Office, 432-4513.

Faculty Badminton

The main gymnasium will be available to all those people who are eligible for membership in the Faculty Club (including husbands, wives, and post-doctoral fellows) to play badminton each Wednesday evening, from 8:30 p.m. to 11 p.m. The fee for academic staff members and consorts is $6 and, for post-doctoral fellows, $1. Both beginners and experienced players are welcome. For further information, please contact Y. Goodman (telephone 432-2304), L. Ignasiuk (telephone 432-8032), or M. Madunicky (telephone 432-8192).

GFC Committee Vacancies

The General Faculties Council Nominating Committee is seeking nominations for one member of the academic staff to serve on the following committees:
Selection Committee for the Chairman of the Department of Microbiology;
Selection Committee for the Chairman of the Department of Chemistry;
Selection Committee for the Chairman of the Department of Botany;
Review Committee for the Chairman of the Department of Educational Foundations.

Regulations governing the composition of the above committees require that one member, not a member of the department concerned, be elected by General Faculties

Council.

Standing Committees

Writing Competence Committee—one member of the academic staff;
Universities Co-ordinating Council—a vacancy exists on this Council for a dean, to be elected by General Faculties Council.

Those who have suggestions for nominations or who are interested in serving on any of the above committees are requested to contact the Secretary of the Nominating Committee, 2-1 University Hall, telephone 432-4715. It would be appreciated if a brief vita could accompany any nomination.

University and Community Day Care Centre

The University and Community Day Care Centre, being organized by the Joint University Day Care Committee, will be opening on 1 November this fall. The Centre is intended for the children of academic and non-academic staff at the University, with priority given to those who have donated funds to help start the Centre, although the children of students and children from the community are also eligible for placement in the Day Care Centre. The Centre will be located in Windsor Park School, two blocks from the campus. The cost to parents will be $190 per child.

A deadline of 16 October has been set for applications for children to be enrolled in the first class. For application forms and information, telephone Anne Marie Decore, Educational Foundations, 432-2158 or 433-7316, or Elizabeth Richards, 432-2475 or 433-3782.

Special Biometeorology Course

A special introductory survey course on human, animal, and plant biometeorology will be offered in October, under the sponsorship of the Institute of Earth and Planetary Physics. The course will be conducted by Solco W. Tromp, Director of the Biometeorological Research Centre of Leiden, in the Netherlands.

The course will consist of six two-hour lectures from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. on 6, 10, 11, 12, 13, and 14 October. There will be no fee for the course, no examination, and no credits given.

Those interested are invited to register for the course as soon as possible, with Muriel Tait, Institute of Earth and Interplanetary Physics, P516 Physics Building, telephone 432-3521. For additional information, contact K.D. Hage, Department of Geography, telephone 432-5405.

NON-CREDIT COURSES

Radiation Safety Course

The Radiation Control Committee will be sponsoring two Radiation Safety Courses during October. These courses are designed to give individuals, primarily at the "technician" level, some basic training in the safe use of radioactive materials in the laboratory. Graduate students, members of faculty, and other interested people, however, are welcome to attend. The first course will be held from 2 to 11 October. The second course is scheduled from 16 to 24 October. The enrollment in either course is restricted to fifteen people, so early registration is advised.

For further information and registrations, telephone the Radiation Control Office at 432-5655. There will be a $1 fee to help cover the cost of the training manuals.

FACULTY OF EXTENSION

The courses listed below are offered under the auspices of the Faculty of Extension. Registrations may be made and information concerning the instructors and contents of the courses may be acquired at 228 Corbett Hall or by telephoning the number at the end of each listing.

RESEARCH GRANTS

Granting Agencies: Application Deadlines

This list of deadline dates for submissions to granting agencies for research funds, exchange programs, and travel grants is published every month in Folio. In order to allow sufficient time for processing, all applications should reach the Research Grants and Contracts Office at least ten days before the deadline date. Where other University resources are involved, the time requirement may be much longer than ten days and such applications should therefore be submitted well in advance. An extra copy of the application should be provided for the Research Grants and Contracts Office.

Further information may be obtained by consulting the Calendar of Granting Agencies for Research Funds, Exchange Programs, and Travel Grants, which is available in the offices of Deans, Directors of Institutes and Centres, and Department Chairmen, or by telephoning the Research Grants and Contracts Office, 432-5360. Note: Although the Calendar is updated on a continuous basis, the following information could be subject to change without notice. If staff members have advance information on forthcoming changes, the Research Grants and Contracts Office would appreciate being advised. Code: (R) Research funds; (E) Exchange programs; (T) Travel grants.
